Five months ago, I myself was nothing out of the ordinary: a nineteen-year-old college student, working at Jimmy John's, who wanted to make money. When I started selling clothes on eBay, I was just looking for another way to make money without working 8-hour days. I quickly discovered the business of arbitrage, which simply put, is when you take advantage of multiple markets. In this case, I found out I could buy cheap, high-end clothes from thrift stores that would make me a surprising amount of money!

With over $10,000 in profit later, I find myself with no boss, wanting to help others who are unaware of this opportunity. Whether you want to make this a full-time income or a part-time hobby is up to you, but the potential for profit is right in front of your eyes, ready to be taken!

Actual Intro:

In our current job market, the opportunities for many individuals are shifting. The idea of an absolute secure job in today's market, even with a college degree, may seem unrealistic, which can be very frightening for some. The increasing competition from outsourcing, an aging labor force, and changing technologies, are a few of reasons why we need to explore other alternatives of making money. When you sell on eBay, it does not matter if you received a doctorate degree or dropped out of high school; anyone can make money. This book will teach you one of the many ways, step-by-step, to make money online by selling clothing on eBay.
